

Stallergenes - Link Pharmaceuticals partnership in Australia

Stallergenes and Link are pleased to announce the reinforcement of their partnership for the Australian market. Stallergenes has recently created a dedicated Australian affiliate company to work alongside Link, providing management, medical and marketing support to answer the specific needs of allergy clinicians and patients with allergies.

Link will continue to perform distribution and customer service duties for all Stallergenes products. Both companies have committed to scaling up their existing joint sales team for the Australia-wide promotion of the current range of both Stallergenes and Link allergy products. This enhanced partnership positions Stallergenes well for the up-coming Australian launch of Oralair.
